Energy and Investment Days 2026 Launches with a New Regional Focus

Regional Focus

Project Marketplace

B2B Matchmaking

Energy and Investment Days 2026 will take place in Novi Sad, Serbia, on 16-17 November 2026, marking the 15th edition of one of the region's established energy events with a renewed focus on regional cooperation, investment and project development across the Western Balkans and Southeast Europe. The conference is organized with the support of the Government of the Autonomous Province of Vojvodina.

Unlike traditional conferences centred on policy discussions, Energy and Investment Days is designed as a practical platform connecting projects, investors, technology providers, public authorities and financial institutions. The event emphasizes cross-border cooperation and investment opportunities that extend beyond individual national markets.

The programme will combine keynote sessions, project presentations, an international energy expo, startup activities and structured B2B matchmaking meetings. A central feature of the 2026 edition will be the Project Marketplace, a developing regional initiative connecting investment-ready projects with investors, technology partners and development organisations.

The conference will bring together representatives of energy companies, project developers, investors, public authorities, international organisations and technology providers to explore new partnerships supporting the region's energy transition and sustainable economic development.
